

Are you a single parent raising a son and you wonder why your son acts so differently than you did growing up? Have you ever wondered why boys seem to be more territorial with their toys and sometimes they even confrontational with you? Well this is the book that can help you understand why boys act that way. Ive detailed some of the life lessons I received from my father growing up and combined them with some of my real life experiences in an effort to help single parents understand boys a little better. Our egos are something else and if you think that youll be able to defeat a boys natural trait, youll be in for a long and losing fight. When faced with the male ego the trick is to try to use it for good instead of trying to change it. I go over in detail many of the lessons that my father taught me about my ego and how to control my natural instincts. I also wrote this book to help single fathers who may not have grew up with a father to teach him how to be a man like my father did for me. Its hard for a man to ask for help and many men simply dont know how to be a man, how to lead their family, how to make tough decisions, or how to understand that simply proclaiming yourself a king when you treat your woman like a jester or a pawn doesnt make him a king. Im trying to use these lessons to teach men how to treat their queen and how to raise their children. I want MEN to be MEN again and hopefully these lessons will help in that regard. I also wrote this book to help young people who dont have good role models. Some kids are just born to worthless families and both the mother and the father are both bad people. What are we to do with those children, just send them straight to the jail or to the grave yard from birth or should we try to help those children? I decided that that I wanted to help those children. If you know of a child that could be helped by reading my words, please make sure you get them a copy. The one thing we ALL want is to make sure our kids grow up to become responsible citizens and for Gods sake PULL THEIR PANTS UP!!! So this is my attempt to make a difference in the world.
